DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 18-24, 27-31, and 34-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sasagaw et al.

Sasagaw et al discloses a coffee beverage and process of preparing same wherein said beverage is prepared from coffee extract from coffee beans (a little less than 10% with respect to the final beverage product; see Example 1) with the addition of potassium salt (e.g. potassium carbonate, potassium hydroxide, see col. 3, line 23; e.g. 0.2 %, see col. 4, lines 28-32), and the addition of a milk component (a little less than 10%, e.g. Example 1) wherein same is then heat sterilized (see col. 4, lines 48-59) and having an adjusted pH of 6.8 (see Examples). It should be noted that the potassium salt may be used alone or in combination with other salts (see cols. 2 and 3). In addition, Sasagawa et al does not employ thickener or emulsifier in said beverage (see Examples). In addition, it is considered inherent that the milk employed by Sasagawa et al is cow's milk, particularly since no other milk is referred to and cow's milk is so common. Moreover, the addition of about 40 g of sugar per 1000 g of beverage in Example 1 is considered to be a beverage which has been lightly sweetened, particularly when compared to Applicants' use of sweetener (see Examples of instant specification).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 36 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sasagawa et al.

The claims are rejected for the reasons set forth in paragraph 2 of the Office Action mailed 5/19/04.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 25, 26, 32, and 33 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Reasons for this allowable subject matter were set forth in the last Office Action (mailed 5/19/04).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 12/14/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Sasagawa et al does not suggest the use of a strongly basic substance (other than phosphate salts) that prevent precipitates from being formed in a milk-added coffee beverage during or after heat treatment. It should be noted that the drinks being treated in Sasagawa et al addresses the issue of using sodium salts to avoid precipitates but to do so in a way that does not result in a product having a poor taste/slimy feel. Sasagawa et al solves this problem by adding potassium hydroxide or other potassium salts to achieve this (col. 2, lines 13-26) wherein same may be used alone or in conjunction with a sodium salt (col. 2, line 26) and in such manner that the pH is above the range that will create precipitates. Nevertheless, although Sasagawa et al prefers using a phosphate salts alone or in combination with potassium compounds, same is not required. In fact, Sasagawa et al discloses the use of, for example, potassium hydroxide taken alone (see col. 3, line 33) which reads on the instant claims that call for the presence of a strong basic substance other than a phosphate salt.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
